Bad Thoughts, Temptations, and Sin

Because we heard about Jesus' three temptations in the desert last weekend, I thought I would use this opportunity to share a few principles that were very helpful for my spiritual life and battling against the enemy of our souls. You've probably heard me say these before, but it's worth repeating!

1. Not every thought you have is from you: it can be from God, the enemy, or ourselves. God knows our inner most thoughts. The devil can only insinuate ideas or intuit our thoughts; he can't read them because the sanctuary of our soul belongs to God!

2. Thoughts from God generally produce good desires and the fruits of the Spirit: love, joy, peace, patience, etc. Thoughts from the enemy generally produce anxiety, fear, confusion, anguish, etc.

3. In order to be guilty of sin, we have to have at least a vague awareness that it is wrong and choose to pursue it anyway; Therefore,

4. Not every "bad" thought is a sin. Only thoughts that we recognize are leading us toward evil (lust, anger, envy, etc.) and that we willingly indulge or pursue further become sinful. The enemy wants us to believe we have sinned before we actually have in order to discourage us. If we are horrified that a certain thought came into our mind and we reject it immediately, we haven't committed a sin!

5. A "mortal" or deadly sin is something that we know is more seriously wrong, and we choose to do it anyway (examples: missing Mass, destroying another's reputation, seeking revenge, or breaking any of the 10 commandments with higher levels of evil intention)

6. Though we aren't guilty of sin when we experience temptation, it can be helpful at times to bring persistent temptations that we experience to reconciliation to receive more strength to battle against those temptations.

7. The best strategy against any "bad thoughts" or temptations is to turn our attention toward Jesus and Mary, talking to them and asking for their help. The more we focus on trying not to do something, the more we end up fixating on it!

I hope these principles help you in your daily battle against the enemy and helps you receive even more blessings through the sacrament of reconciliation!

Rejoice in hope,
Fr. Joel
